

get ready for the 2009 LifeSteps personal scorecard

What are you doing right now to make your future a healthier one?

Good health doesn't happen overnight—or by accident. Adopting a healthier lifestyle takes time—but, more importantly, it requires commitment. And that's what the LifeSteps personal scorecard is all about.

The scorecard informs you of your health risks and opportunities. It also rewards you with points for healthy behavior, such as eating right, exercising, not smoking, and getting regular health screenings like blood pressure and cholesterol checks, even regular dental check-ups. The points translate into a specific dollar amount, credited in your paycheck—and you can retake the scorecard every four months, so you have plenty of opportunities throughout the year to improve your health and increase your savings.

Use the checklist inside to help you achieve the highest possible scorecard discount. Review each item to see if you've had the appropriate screenings, and that you're doing what it takes to get or stay in shape. Now is the time to schedule appointments, make changes, and get those wheels in motion!

note

The 2009 personal scorecard will begin a few weeks early — Sept 15, 2008. Annual benefits enrollment will take place Nov 3 - 14, 2008.

need more support?

There are resources available to help you get on the path to better health—including LifeSteps health coaches, the American Cancer Society Quitline, or one of our nationally recognized weight loss programs or fitness discount vendors. There's no reason to do it alone, but there's every reason to succeed!
